

Sustainable Solutions Corporation

Tenant and Employee LEED Education

LEED certified buildings offer many benefits to tenants, employees, and the community, and achieving LEED certification is a success worth sharing. Educating employees, tenants, and customers about your green buildings demonstrates your commitment to sustainability and to providing healthy, comfortable indoor spaces. Sustainable Solutions Corporation (SSC) will develop training that:

- Introduces LEED to your audience
- Highlights the sustainable features of your building
- Demonstrates the value of this certification

Along with training, SSC will develop green marketing content to highlight the achievements of the LEED certification. This can be included in tenant manuals, employee handbooks, and lobby touch screens.

Benefits of LEED Education

Employee Engagement

Communicating corporate sustainability successes, including LEED certification, inspires employees to further this corporate commitment.

Tenant Attraction and Retention

Progressive organizations and tenants are seeking green workspaces for the performance and human health benefits. Studies have shown that LEED certified buildings have increased occupancy rates and command rental premiums.

Objectives:

- Showcase green building successes
- Bring employees/tenants on-board
- Demonstrate commitment to sustainability
